ORIGINS OF PEER SUPPORT

Peer support is a natural human response to want to help someone who is “like us.”
EARLY DOCUMENTED “PEER SUPPORT”

In 1797 France, Jean-Baptiste Pussin, a former patient became the superintendent of the asylum and banned the use of chains and restraints and to establish a more humane form of treatment. Philippe Pinel was a physician who documented Pussin's methods.

(Davidson, et al. 2012)

LIVED EXPERIENCE

- What we have learned after reflecting on an experience
- Lived experience offers a different kind of knowledge (wisdom) than academic knowledge
SELF-HELP / MUTUAL SUPPORT

- Self Help: You alone can do it, but you cannot do it alone
- Mutual Support: giving and receiving support in the form of lived experience

(Borkman, 2021)

BREAKOUT DISCUSSION: MUTUAL SUPPORT

In small groups of 2-3 people discuss your “lived experience” of mutual support.

- Share a time you were able to help someone because you had been through something similar.

  OR

- Share a time someone was able to help you because they had been through something similar.

CONSUMERS AND SURVIVORS

CONSUMERS ➔ Those who are still using mental health services
SURVIVORS ➔ Those who have survived the mental health system

(Chamberlin, 1978)
ROOTS OF PEER SUPPORT SERVICES

Peer Support grew from three distinct mutual support branches:

➔ 12 Step/12 Tradition Groups
➔ Patient/Family Support Groups
➔ Consumer/Survivor/Ex-patient (c/s/x) Movement

EVOLUTION OF PEER SERVICES IN MENTAL HEALTH

1970's-1980's
Alternatives to the mental health system (Chamberlin, 1978)

1998-2008
SAMHSA-funded multi-site research project named peer support an evidence-based practice (Campbell, 2008)

Examples
➔ drop-in centers
➔ mutual support groups
➔ peer educator and advocacy programs
➔ multi-service agencies with benefits counseling and case-management
➔ specialized supportive services focusing on crisis respite, employment, housing
➔ peer phone services (warmlines)
RECOVERY IS POSSIBLE

In 1987, Courtenay Harding and other researchers presented over 30 years of accumulated evidence supporting the recovery of the majority of people with even the most severe mental illnesses.

This research was foundational to changing the paradigm from custodial care to recovery-oriented practice.

Authentic Peer Support

Peer Support grew and thrived in environments where there was a belief in recovery and mutual support. Skill was developed through an apprenticeship model (junior practitioners learned their craft from experienced practitioners).

MEDICAID-BILLABLE PEER SERVICES

Medicaid Required:
- State approved training
- Care coordination
- Supervision by a competent mental health professional (as defined by the state)

In 2007, peer support was named an evidence-based practice and became a Medicaid-reimbursable service.

INTEGRATED HEALTH CARE

Clinical Practice

- expertise defined by formal education and credentials
- provided in exchange for money
- uni-directional accountability
- clear boundaries and fixed roles
- power rigidly defined a priori
- externally regulated

Professional (medical) model of health care

Non-Clinical Practice
- experiential knowledge
- expertise defined by lived experience
- provided for the love of helping
- no money involved
- bi-directional accountability
- flexible boundaries and complementary roles
- power situationally defined un-regulated

Lived experience (empowerment) mutual-help

CLINICAL SUPERVISION VS PEER SUPERVISION

Clinical Supervision

- About educating a junior member of a profession to meet the standards competent in that practice
- Part of a developmental model
- Supervision from a licensed mental health professional was a Medicaid directive

Peer Support Supervision

- Mutuality and self-help are the values and practice of the profession
- Employs an apprenticeship model
- Rooted in a developmental model
- The Five Critical Functions of Supervision Model provides a framework that highlights some of the nuances that address the unique concerns of peer support workers

<td>Build rapport by providing constructive feedback</td>
<td>Explain the big picture; provide context and value of specific role in supporting the mission</td>
<td>Faster good morale and a respectful work environment</td>

<td>Offer relevant training and conference attendance opportunities</td>
<td>Negotiate reasonable work accommodations when appropriate</td>
<td>Address areas needing improvement; progressive discipline</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

SUMMARY

- General recruiting, onboarding, orientation as to vision and mission, housekeeping expectations
- Clinical supervisors may treat peer support workers like clients rather than employees. Watch out for traps like being a “friend”
- On the job training (hard to do without lived experience providing peer support) without may need education on the values, relationship challenges
- Multiple ways; for the individual, the team, the program, and the community
- Are things being evaluated in line with peer values?

CHALLENGES PEER SUPPORT WORKERS FACE

- What is done is sometimes at cross-purposes; are we helping people find their way (compass) while the rest of the system is on the clock (treatment)

<th>FACT</th>

<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1. Aren't peer staff too “fragile” to handle the stress of the job?</td>

</tr>
<tr>
<td>2. Don't peer staff relapse?</td>
<td>All employees, including peer staff, take off time because of illness, including mental health issues</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3. Can peer staff handle the administrative demands of the job?</td>
<td>Supervision and specific job-skills training can support peer staff in managing these tasks</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4. Won't peer staff cause harm to clients by breaking confidentiality or by saying the “wrong” things?</td>
<td>Given their own experiences, peer staff may in fact be more sensitive around issues of participant confidentiality</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5. Won't peer staff make my job harder rather than easier?</td>
<td>The perspective of a peer specialist provides an important and useful complement to traditional mental health services; they can enrich participants’ lives while other staff focus on their own roles</td>
